"The many characteristics of diversity shape an individual's world view. The more diverse we are, the better perspective we have."

TRG participated in Service Day at a local VA Hospital Nursing Home.

Employees across our business units voiced their tributes to our military veteran families.

Walls of honor were posted in many locations around Realogy, including this one at Title Resource Group (TRG).

CENTURY 21 sends a veteran to the 2013 Super Bowl Game, provides returning veterans with real estate training and discounts, and answers veterans' questions about homeownership in Google+ Hangout.

Cartus in Danbury, Conn., held a "Lunch & Learn" on how modern culture and traditions have both changed and remained the same.

Employees in NRT's web services group in Edina, Minn., celebrated the Hindu holiday of Diwali.

Realogy's Diversity Workforce Committee in its Madison, New Jersey headquarters held Bollywood dance lessons while learning about various cultural aspects of India.

Asian Pacific Heritage Month festivities at Cartus in Irving, Texas included a traditional attire contest.

Realogy Women's Leadership Panel presented to a full house in the headquarters' amphitheater, and was shared company-wide.

TRG created the Diversity & Inclusion Book Club, first book: "Lean In: Women Power and the Will to Lead"

TRG appointed new TRG Diversity & Inclusion co-chair increased council membership by adding several new members.

"The event was not only very insightful into today's market and what is going on across the nation, but also a learning tool of innovative ideas to run brokerages and your business as a whole."

-CLARE ACKERMAN, PHOENIX, ARIZ.

Realogy hosted the "LEARN, BUILD, EXPLORE CONFERENCE," focused on servicing diverse growth market segments. Charlie Young, ERA Real Estate president and CEO, led this in-depth roundtable discussion.
